THE FACTORY VISIT

OVERVIEW OF THE VISIT

More than 45,000 sq.m of production area facing the Adriatic Sea including a GRP molding shop, multiple assembly lines, a state-of-the-art paint booth and a large open space and a private marina.

 Duration of the visit: approximately 1 to 2 hours

GRP molding shop

The first step in the production of a yacht, is the creation of its empty fiberglass hull and deck.

All fiberglass components are meticulously manufactured on a modern production line, using materials and resin applied by vacuum infusion.

Multiple assembly lines

Assembly lines install wooden elements, composites, and parts from suppliers, all according to a predefined production plan.

The wooden elements are preassembled in the form of modules, and then installed in the hull of the yacht, in an «open air» fashion.

Finishing and painting booth

The yacht can be painted upon client request in the state-of-the-art painting booth.

In this phase the maximum attention is given to each and every single detail in order to finalize the yacht before the launching.

Delivery and testing phase

The launching of the yacht is the most delicate phase and in Monfalcone it is done internally.

Afterwards, a series of tests and trials are carried out since it is necessary to check the performances, to control the components and to simulate the overall functioning of the yacht.
